

Flared End Sections

Flared end sections on culvert pipe are necessary whenever there is concern about ditch erosion and scouring caused by high outflows from culverts. The flared end sections are made from tough durable polyethylene that is not susceptible to rust or corrosion. They are easily installed with an adjustment rod to securely fasten to the pipe. They are available in 12" through 36" diameters.

